CAMPAIGN If he's elected, mayoral candidate Jim Watson said he has no interest in hitting the reset button on the $2.1-billion rapid transit network.

"I come from the perspective that the city will decide what the plan is," the MPP for Ottawa West-Nepean said Thursday.

"And the city has decided its plan. My concern ... is not the plan, it's whether we have the money to fund the plan."

If the city can show taxpayers how it is going to fund the $2.1-billion plan, Watson said, "Let's get a shovel in the ground and let's do it.

Council approved the functional design of the first phase of the rapid transit network Wednesday.

suspicious death in Vanier

CRIME A suspicious death in a basement apartment in Vanier could potentially be Ottawa's first murder

The Ottawa Police Service major crime section is investigating an incident after a male body was discovered inside a residence at 102 Jolliet Ave., shortly after noon Thursday.

Police have yet to identify the deceased, but neighbours said his name was Denis Mitrow, a man who spent nearly all of his approximate 50 years living in Vanier.

Mitrow's cousin, who also lives on Jolliet Avenue, said Mitrow's sister said he had been stabbed to death.

Outside the house, one of Mitrow's friends, who identified himself Rocky, said Mitrow was a good guy who liked playing guitar and liked to drink beer.

Mitrow's Rocky said roommate, woman a named Martha who had lived with him for several years, had spoken to police earlier in the day.

Another man had recently moved into the basement apartment, said

Chris Wengie, a neighbour across the street. His name was also Rocky, but Wengie had not seen him.

Julie Wengie said Martha and Mitrow fought frequently and police were often called to the house. Wengie said a police car had been at the house Wednesday night.

Set Lansdowne bar high: Chair

Head of review panel says capital needs to project capability

TIM WIECLAWSKI

George Dark understands there is a great deal of concern, hope, hesitation and anxiety about the future of Lansdowne Park, but he wouldn't have it any other way.

"It should be a big, tense discussion," said Dark, an award-winning urban designer and landscape architect who is chairing the three-person Lansdowne Park strategic design review and advisory panel. "Whichever way you do it, you are projecting your capability to the rest of the country and the world. Those are very, very high stakes."

The panel, unveiled Thursday, also includes Rick Haldenby, the director of the School of Architecture at the University of Waterloo since 1988, and Marianne McKenna, an internationally acclaimed architect and founding partner of the Toronto architect tural firm KPMB.

The panel will review the design work of the stadium and the commercial space areas and provide suggestions on how to ensure that the entire space works together. Dark and McKenna will also sit on the selection committee for the design competition to deal with the eastern half of the park.

The most important thing to do for the park is to re-establish it as a civic meeting place that residents will be proud to show off to their out-of-town friends.

In its current state, Lansdowne Park is a vast parking lot with a few out-ofdate buildings.

As the nation's capital, Ottawa has a responsibility to stand for the entire country when tourists visit, Dark said.

The city needs to set the bar high for what it wants from the park and reject anything that does not meet that standard, said Dark.

Preston St. fire causes $400K in damages

NO INJURIES An early morning fire on Preston Street caused an estimated $400,000 in damages to a residence, a business downstairs and their contents Thursday.

A two-alarm fire at 173 Preston St., called in at 3:50 a.m., required 17 rigs and 43 firefighters. The fire was brought under control just over an hour later.

The fire, which was in the upstairs apartment and attic space, also caused water damage to the flower shop below, said Ottawa fire Capt. Pierre Savary. Damage to the building is estimated at $300,000, while damage to the contents is $100,000.

There were no injuries. While the fire is not considered to be suspicious, the cause is still under investigation, Savary said.

This September, 39 Ottawa schools will begin phasing in full-day learning for four- and five-year-olds, giving them a better start, Premier Dalton McGuinty said at Century Public School Thursday.

The full-day learning opportunities for children who are four and five years of age are the first of their kind in North America, McGuinty said.

Earlier this week, the province announced that it would be opening up the program to 600 schools, accommodating up to 35,000 youngsters.

By 2015, the program will accommodate all children who want to attend.

"We know that if we can better prepare our children for Grade 1, they are much more likely to succeed academically," McGuinty said.

Another advantage of the full-time program is that parents now have a place to send their children without the cost of paying for daycare, and it may also free up some parents to employment outside the household.

Applicants from Haiti may get fast-tracked into Canada

The federal government is looking at ways to make it easier for Haitians to come to Canada as immigrants or refugees, in response to the devastating earthquake in the Caribbean country.

Options include waiving fees, speeding up applications for family reunification, and perhaps even relaxing the definition of who can be included in reunification.

U.S. takes charge in aid efforts Relief supplies begin

Haiti Crisis

U.S. President Barack Obama and the United States moved to take charge in earthquake-ravaged Haiti on Thursday, dispatching thousands of troops along with tons of aid to try to keep order as well as rescue the suffering in a country dysfunctional at the best of times.

Tested by the first largescale humanitarian disaster of his presidency, Obama ordered a relief effort of historic proportions despite the strains it was sure to put on both the stretched American budgand military forces fighting two wars.

He pledged an initial $100 million US, with the likelihood of more later.

Aware of the steep political cost George W. Bush paid for an ineffective response to Hurricane Katrina's destruction of much of New Orleans, La., the Obama White House has laboured to show intensive engagement by the president since immediately after the 7.0-magnitude quake struck the impoverished island on Tuesday.

Details of evening Situation Room meetings, phone calls with world leaders and cancelled events were being released almost hourly.

"I will not put up with any excuses for us not doing the very best in this time of tragedy," Obama pledged, making his third public comments on the topic in two days.

Haiti Crisis

AID Desperately-needed aid from around the world slowly made its way Thursday into Haiti, where supply bottlenecks and a leadership vacuum left rescuers scrambling on their own to save the trapped and injured and get relief supplies into the capital. The international Red Cross estimated that 45,000 to 50,000 people were killed in Tuesday's magnitude-7 earthquake.

The nascent flow of rescue workers showed some results: A newly-arrived search team pulled a UN security worker alive from the organization's collapsed headquarters, where about 100 people are still trapped. He stood, held up a fist in celebration, and was helped off to a hospital.

Planes from Canada, China, France, Spain and the United States landed at Portau-Prince's airport, carrying searchers and tons of water, food, medicine and other — with more supplies promised from around the globe for the Western Hemisphere's poorest nation, where the international Red Cross estimated three million people may need emergency relief.

An Israeli man who kept a cult-like harem of women and fathered dozens of children with them has been arrested on suspicion of enslavement, rape and incest, police said Thursday.

Police say Goel Ratzon kept 17 women in a state of near-total obedience in at least three apartments in the Tel Aviv area.

Spokesman Micky Rosenfeld said they bore him 37 children, some of whom were born to his own daughters.

Ratzon, a self-described healer about 60 years old with flowing white locks and a bushy white beard, controlled the women's money and sometimes abused them if they dared to challenge his control, police alleged.

Authorities have investigated Ratzon before but did not find enough evidence to charge him. A recent law against human trafficking opened the door to pursue enslavement charges, Rosenfeld said. A documentary about Ratzon that aired on Israel's Channel 10 last year said he kept 32 women and 89 children in his apartments. The TV documentary showed women with tattoos of his name and face on their bodies, in almost angelic portrayals. Many of the children's names included his own first name. He was quoted as saying the women lived with him under their own free will, and it showed pictures of them combing his hair and feeding him. Some of the women told the station that he had rescued them from

The children have been turned over to welfare authorities, and some of the women have been released, police said.

As many as 10 women were living in one three-bedroom apartment with 16 children, Rosenfeld said.

All the apartments were dark, filthy and rundown, and the women and children's movements inside were monitored by Ratzon from a separate apartment he kept. he said.

155 people aboard the crippled US Airways Flight 1549 survived a splash-landing on the frigid Hudson River, some are suffering the psychological aftereffects of their descent and harrowing evacuation. "It was a real breaking point for me,' said passenger Anastasia Sosa, who believed her husband and two young children would die with her. In what became known as the Miracle on the Hudson, Capt. Chesley (Sully) Sullenberger ditched his Airbus A320 in the river last Jan. 15, after a collision with birds disabled the engines. On Friday, Sullenberger and some of the survivors will take a boat out to the place where they were pulled soaked and freezing from the water, and at the moment of impact they will raise their glasses in a toast.

Mergers to rise: Execs

Acquisition activity will pick up, say officials

Top Canadian bank executives say merger and acquisition activity in their industry will pick up again as uncertainty about global banking regulations is resolved.

M&A activity in the sector has been hampered by fears that the rules will be changed dramatically in response to the 2009 credit crisis, which has been largely blamed on reckless lending, particularly in the United States.

Adjusting to new security measures ve always considered Ottawa's small, low-hassle airport an oasis from the sometimes hectic, paranoid experience of air travel.

Last week, though, I took my first trip since not-readyfor-end-times jihadist Umar Farouk Abdulmutallab allegedly attempted martyrdom by detonating his underwear. This set off another round of reflexive panic and look-busy security measures, so I made sure I arrived in plenty of time to be scanned, profiled, searched and interrogated.

Rule No. 1 at the airport is no joking, of course. Nobody needs to have their attention called to the alwaysincreasing absurdity of their situation.

About two weeks after the Christmas Day bombing attempt, I found our airport still in the process of adjusting to this fearsome new post-gitch bomber era.

The lonely racks for measuring carry-on baggage (now forbidden on U.S.-bound trips) were still sitting around.

Seldom, though, have we seen security requirements grow less onerous. We're still required to take off our shoes since 2001, when another incompetent terrorist, Richard Reid, failed to blow up a plane with explosives in his.

The newfangled nude scanners, first promised decades ago to aspiring voyeurs in the back pages of comic books, have not yet arrived in Ottawa, so it's mandatory patdowns for everyone. The screening area hadn't been noticeably changed to accommodate this operation, so it caused a bit of a bottleneck as passengers waited for a frisker of the appropriate gender (I'm personally OK with a co-ed search. Airports can be so dull).

As is generally the case at Ottawa's airport, the new measures have been adopted with reasonable courtesy all around. Nobody is trying to make the new rituals any harder than they have to be.

The airport Tim Hortons is still openly selling a muffin it calls the Fruit Explosion, and Connie, headed to Miami, ordered three without setting off any alarms.

Clearly, things could be worse.

The rest of my trip involved much bigger U.S. airports, where despite constant announcements of colour-coded threat levels from Homeland Security (orange appears to be the default setting) everyone seemed relatively bored.

Perhaps we've all been so scared for so long it now feels like business as usual.

Global positioning systems put to the test

This past Christmas, one of the hottest gadgets going was the global positioning system (GPS). It's a handy device. But it turns out those great gadgets aren't always safe. At Marketplace, we've learned that programming a GPS on the road can be dangerous.

With the help of Durham Regional Police, we blocked off a stretch of road near Toronto and asked drivers to find directions on their portable navigators. Transportation engineer Paul Green, from the University of Michigan's Transportation Research Institute, conducted the test while we recorded every move.

Green says drivers shouldn't look away from the road for more than two seconds at a time. "Every time you look away, that's another time period that you've lost a sense of what's happening while driving." But in our test, drivers trying to program the GPS took their eyes off the road for much longer — one looks away for seven seconds!

So just how many people actually program while they drive? Marketplace commissioned the first poll of its kind in Canada and discovered that almost half of all drivers surveyed (47 per cent) program their GPS while driving. That's not allowed in On-

That's not allowed in Ontario or B.C. anymore, but police say drivers are still doing it. York Regional Police Sgt. Edmond Villamere says a lot of drivers just don't think programming a GPS is as dangerous as texting.

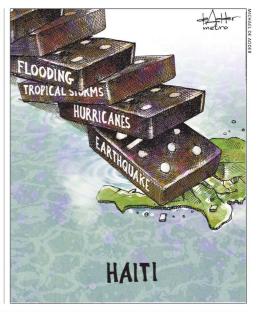

Green says manufacturers should design portable GPS devices so they can't be programmed while a car is in motion — just like most GPS's built right into a vehicle.

But that doesn't fly with Steve Koenig with the Consumer Electronics Association in Arlington, Va. He says drivers should take responsibility behind the wheel. "If a consumer is operating a vehicle ... unsafely," says Koenig, "their excuses are their own."

Tell that to the family of Shannon Bentley. The Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., woman was killed by a driver distracted by his GPS. They tell their exclusive story on Marketplace tonight.

NHL RESULTS

Chris Campoli broke up a scoreless game with 1:14 remaining, and the Ottawa Senators snapped a five-game losing streak with a 2-0 victory over the punchless New York . Rangers on Thursday night.

Mike Brodeur, a distant relative of New Jersey goalie Martin Brodeur, made 32 saves in his second NHL appearance to earn his second career victory. The shutout came two days after Martin Brodeur beat the Rangers 1-0 in a shootout at Madison Square Garden. Mike Brodeur pulled off the ice during practice for Binghamton (AHL) on Thursday after being recalled by the Senators.

Henrik Lundqvist also stopped 32 shots but was the hard-luck loser for the second straight game. He made 45 saves against the Devils on Tuesday and came out on the short end after Patrik Elias scored the only goal in the shootout.

Lundqvist hadn't allowed a goal in a career-best 127 minutes, 30 seconds - dating to the Rangers' 3-1 win at Boston on Saturday.

Now the shutout streak surrounding the Rangers is the one plaguing their offence. New York has gone 144:23 since its last goal on Saturday. This blanking cost the team its seven-game point streak

In the net

 Mike Brodeur got the start one day after the Senators fired goaltending coach Eli Wilson. No. 1 goalie Pascal Leclaire is 0-3 with a 5.43 goals-against average in his last four starts.

Ottawa, outscored 22-5 during its skid, got an empty-net goal from Chris Kelly in the closing seconds for its first win since Jan. 3. The Senators are an NHL-worst 4-12-1 on the road since Oct. 29.

Pierre Garcon made contact with some family members in Haiti and received some good news.

The Indianapolis Colts receiver said Thursday he got calls earlier in the day from relatives, who let him know they had survived the earthquake that devastated Haiti two days earlier.

Garcon said his mother received a call from a relative on Wednesday night. "I heard from some family, got some good information," he said. "We're still looking for the rest of them. We've still got more people that need to be found. We're still hoping that everybody's all right." Garcon attended high school in Florida, but his parents emigrated to the U.S. from Haiti, and most of his relatives still live there. Garcon, visibly drained after Thursday's practice, said he's thankful for the concern people have shown for the nation.

"It's nice to get support from a lot of people. I really appreciate it. We need a lot more."

Garcon is expected to play in Saturday's playoff game against Baltimore, but he's struggling to focus. "It's hard, but it's something you've got to do," he said. "You've got to deal with it. It's kind of tough, but there's not much you can do about it."

NFL PREVIEW Arizona at New Orleans

Drew Brees is among the most prolific regular season passers the NFL has seen. Kurt Warner has the same credentials for the post-season.

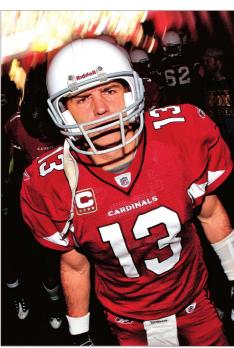

When Brees' Saints and Warner's Cardinals meet Saturday to open the second round of the playoffs, the scoreboard will get a workout. The defences will get dizzy. The announcers might go hoarse.

New Orleans (13-3) scored a league-high 510 points, ninth most in NFL history. Arizona (11-6) had a mere 375, then Warner riddled Green Bay's sec-ond-ranked defence for five touchdown passes in a 51-45 wildcard overtime victory - the highest-scoring playoff game ever.

Skaters battle for spots on Olympic team hey are only the national championships, but the Canadian Olympic figure skating trials in London, Ont., could be a barnburner.

It's more than just hyperbole to suggest this gathering promises "sudden death" for some Olympic dreams.

There is, in fact, "no tomorrow" and two spots on the Canadian roster will depend on "do or die" performances in each of four disciplines — pairs, dance, ladies' and men's singles.

In the men's competition there are at least six skaters with a chance. They come from the far reaches of the country and five are chasing Toronto's Patrick Chan, the world championship silver medallist, who has been less than stellar in this crucial sea-

He's well qualified for his job.

Slipchuk believes a system of trial by fire is the only way to ensure success at the Games.

"They will have shown the ability to do it when it counts," he said. "And counts," he said. "And that's exactly what they'll have to do to reach the Olympic podium. "It's very humbling as Jeff Bridges has been one of the most underrated actors in Hollywood for decades and this will probably be the year that he gets a collection of statues for his impressive work in Crazy Heart. It might not top The Big Lebowski as the actor's most iconic role, but the biopic does push all the right buttons for awards gold. Expect Matt Damon to take home well-deserved top honours in the comedy category for The Informant!.

James Cameron is the director to beat at the Golden Globes.

BEST ACTRESS:

Sandra Bullock set a record at the box office this year for bringing in more cash than any other actress. For that reason alone she will inevitably score a Golden Globe for The Blind Side. It certainly doesn't hurt that her stiffest competition comes from Meryl Streep's memorable turn in Julia And

Eli hell on earth you can believe in

The Book of Eli

Director: The Hughes Brothers Stars: Denzel Washington Classification: STC Rating: @@@

STEVE GOW for Metro Canada

REVIEW With Hollywood currently saturating cinemas with post-apocalyptic drama, The Book of Eli's own tagline may be better suited to a wishful maxim for its investors: Believe in Hope.

After all, the movie's familiar theme may numb viewers who've seen enough Armageddon from recent films like The Road, 2012 and 9 (not to be confused with Nine).

But there's still much to like about the long-awaited return of the Hughes Brothers. In hiding since 2001's From Hell, the filmmaking siblings rebound in style by bringing Hell to Denzel Washington and Mila Kunis star in The Book of Eli.

Earth — quite literally.

America has churned to rubble following a devastating war. Destined to "stay on the path," a drifter named Eli (Denzel Washington) protects a sa-cred Bible from thieves and killers as he wanders westward following his destiny.

In the classic mould of a western icon, Eli possesses fighting skills that would rival any Clint Eastwood character, especially when he meets his rival Mussolini-admiring warlord (Gary Oldman) who also desires that one remaining book.

It's a tricky role, playing a sanctified sinner, so luckily Washington gives it life even while sur-rounded by supporting parts that seem fashionably cookie-cutter.

Still, the film is stronger when it plays the thinking man's action flick rather than playing to pious overtones of spirituality.

After all, the Hughes have constructed a pretty serious dystopia that's ripe for rage and violent action.

Honestly, if post-apocalyptic themes weren't so prevailing of late, The Book of Eli would surely assume a greater impact on filmgoers.

But with enough slick choreography, desaturated cinematography and a reliably compelling star, The Book of Eli may just make a believer out of audiences

Movie adaptation is too faithful

The Lovely Bones

Director: Peter Jackson Stars: Saoirse Ronan, Mark Wahlberg

Classification: STC Rating: ####

NED EHBAR

Adapting a novel into a two-hour film is tricky business. Filmmakers can create calamity just as much by staying to true to the source material as they can with sweeping diversions from the book. The problem with Peter Jackson's The Lovely Bones, based on Alice Sebold's bestselling novel, is that it's too faithful.

The core story of the film

— 14-year-old Susie
Salmon watches from beyond the grave as her family copes with her murder — works just fine, and the three actors at the heart of it (Saoirse Ronan as Susie, Mark Wahlberg as her father and Stanley Tucci as her murderer) turn in outstanding performances, with Wahlberg possibly the best he's been.

It's a shame the rest of the cast doesn't have as much to do.

Rachel Weisz's suburban mother has so little to say or do that it's hard to care when she buckles from grief and abandons her family. Susan Sarandon, as Susie's chain-smoking, ginsoaked grandmother, seems flown in from another film entirely. Her whirlwind "eccentric granny takes care of the kids" montage feels more in keeping with Running with Scissors.

And poor Michael Imperioli's detective has little more to do than give meaningful looks hinting at a much more fleshed-out subplot in the novel.

gether, with Susie learning to let go in a CGI-rich landscape somewhere between life and death. Jackson paints some wonderfully surreal images as Susie comes to terms with her demise. A bit more of that, and a few less characters, and The Lovely Bones could have been much lovelier.

TuTuMuch an odd preteen study

TuTuMuch

Director: Elise Swerhone
Classification: STC

PHIL BROWN for Metro Canada

REVIEW TuTuMuch is a very simple and sweet documentary about nine young girls spending their summer auditioning for a spot at the Royal Winnipeg Ballet School.

The movie is the third consecutive documentary about young girls studying ballet from director Elise Swerhorne.

It's an odd subject to focus a career on, but Swerhorne clearly has a passion for the material and an ability to get her subjects to candidly open up on camera.

With no clear central character the film can feel a little unfocused at times, but it does create an effective study of the subject matter, even if it's hard to say how wide the appeal will be.

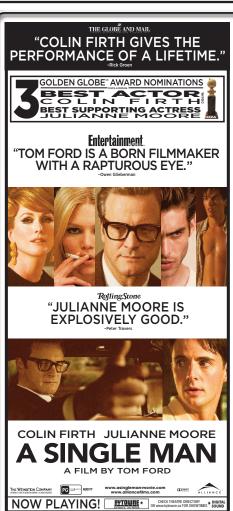

The film opens with nine young girls from around the world coming to a prestigious ballet school for a grueling summerlong audition process. Stern teachers talk about how painful their training must be while criticizing girls young enough to have braces that their necks just aren't long enough to ever be dancers.

It's a very strange world to drop into for those unfamiliar with it. The girls onscreen appear to love the experience, but from the outside it can seem a little unfairly strict and competitive for such young minds.

For audiences familiar with ballet or active within the dance community, this film should be fascinating. As an outsider looking in the movie is definitely interesting, but is a little too unfocused to be compelling

Had the filmmakers focused on a specific story it might have provided a clear emotional journey, but with so many girls given the spotlight it can be hard to even keep track of who is who. Anyone thinking of sending their children to a similar institushould definitely watch TuTuMuch. As for everyone else, it simply depends on how much you love ballet and whether or not you can identify with preteen girls whose primary concern is whether they will dedicate the rest of their lives to dancing or horseback riding.

Funny Fraser takes a serious turn

PHIL BROWN for Metro Canada

Brendan Fraser is best known as a tonque-incheek leading man who adds a much needed dose of humor to blockbusters like Journey To The Center Of The Earth and the recent Mummy series.

But for all his one-liners and physical comedy, Fraser is also an actor more than happy to take a serious turn with the right role. The upcoming Extraordinary Measures is one such movie in which he plays the real life figure of John Crowley, a successful businessman who gave up his career to pursue a cure for the rare Pompe disease afflicting his chil-

Fraser the movie Extraordinary presented an opportuhits theatres he couldn't next Friday resist. Not only

Chow Yun-fat confident about Confucius biopic

CHINESE CINEMA Hong Kong megastar Chow Yun-fat said Thursday that he was confident a biopic about the ancient Chinese philosopher Confucius can take on the hugely popular computer-graphics-laden, 3-D Hollywood blockbuster Avatar.

The 54-year-old actor, best known for his iconic gangster roles in Hong Kong cinema, donned scholarly robes to play the ancient sage in the $22 million US government-backed movie Confucius, which premieres in Beijing.

Chow said he expected Confucius to put up a good fight against Iames Cameron's science fiction fantasy Avatar, a global hit that raced to $4.8 million on its first day in China and is expected to earn more than 500 million yuan ($73 million) at the Chinese box office.

"If the two films were shown at the same time, those who go to see Avatar will also go to see Confucius, and those who go to Confucius will also see Avatar," Chow said at a news conference in Bei-

"They are two different kinds of movies, but they are both about humanity," the Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon star said. The movie, which opens to general audiences in China on Jan. 22, is part of a recent revival of Confucius, whom late Chinese leader Mao Zedong denounced because his emphasis on harmony and respect of social hierarchies conflicted with the Marxist ideology progress through conflict.

During the 1966-1976 ultra-leftist Cultural Revolution under Mao's rule, enforcers known as red guards descended on Confucius' family home, family grave plot and a temple honouring the sage in his eastern hometown of Qufu, destroying about 6,600 relics.

But the status of the ancient sage has been reaffirmed in recent years. Confucian classics have been given higher status at universities and even prisons have been reportedly teaching Confucian philosophy to prisoners. The Chinese government started setting up Confucius Institutes abroad in 2004 to promote Chinese language and culture. A female professor's book of reflections on the classic Confucian text Analects became a massive hit.

Chow made his name with stylish Hong Kong gangster thrillers like A Better Tomorrow before making his Hollywood debut with the 1998 action movie The Replacement Killers. Other American credits include Anna and the King, Bulletproof Monk, and Pirates of the Caribbean: At World's End.

But now the former action icon has been reduced to starring in The Spy Next Door, a completely disposable family action movie that makes Hulk Hogan vehicles like Mr. Nanny look like high art. Even the outtakes during the closing credits don't live up to Chan's usual outtake standards. His fans are sure to be disappointed.

Jackie Chan stars as a secret agent posing as a suburban geek. By day he awkwardly dates his single mother neighbour, but at night he tracks down the deadliest criminals in North America.

In the opening scenes, Chan retires and hopes to settle down, but ends up facing his biggest challenge yet (cue record scratching sound effect): Babysitting his girlfriend's children.

At first the kids think he's lame because he wears glasses, but there is always a chance that a few unexpected action scenes might change their minds. That concept may sound bad, but in execution it is somehow even worse. After all, this is the sort of move that tries to pass off Billy Ray Cyrus as a wisecracking comedy sidekick (yep, that's true).

There's a chance that with enough sugary soda pumped into their system a few young children might find the movie funny.

Parents, on the other hand, are guaranteed to be irritated and disgusted by what the filmmakers try to pass off as comedy.

It has to be said that Chan is still surprisingly limber and capable of pulling off impressive physical gags and fights for a man who is 55 years old. But sadly, that's the only positive comment to make about The Spy Next Door. This movie should justifiably vanish into obscurity almost instantly.

In Knowing (2009), Nicolas Cage plays a professor trying to prevent an apocalypse on earth.

End-of-the-world visions

hether it's Denzel Washington dining on a meal of hairless cat in this weekend's The Book of Eli or Knowing's Nicolas Cage screeching, "How can I stop the end of the world?" grisly images of post apocalyptic lifestyle have recently been dominating movie screens.

Perhaps it's the recession or the result of the anxious times we live in, but end-of-the-world stories are all the rage, but they are not new. Whether it's nuclear fallout, an unexpected ice age or a zombie holocaust that brings about the end, filmmakers have peddled post apocalyptica for years.

In 1959 Gregory Peck headlined a dystopian drama that set the date for the end of the world just after World War III in 1964. In On the Beach, nuclear war has destroyed all life on the planet save for a small enclave in Australia, but even they will succumb once the radiation clouds drift by.

"We're all doomed," says

"We're all doomed," says Julian Osborne (Fred Astaire). "Doomed by the air we're about to breathe."

As doomsday dramas go this one is particularly depressing — for example, people gobble up "suicide pills" — but its Cold War commentary led one contemporary writer to label it "the most important film of our time."

Several years later the post-atomic war film Panic in Year Zero! opened with one of filmdom's great understatements.

While on a fishing trip Harry Baldwin (Ray Milland) and his family see a mushroom cloud over Los Angeles.

"We've had it; haven't we dad?" says son Rick (Frankie Avalon).

Well, not quite Rick, but the world as you know it is over. Made on a shoestring, Panic in Year Zero! is notable not for its special effects—there aren't any—but for its take on the difficult decisions Milland's character must make to ensure his family's survival in a world where old principles of humanity are obsolete.

Finally, to end the endof-the-world list, fans of post apocalyptic fantasy will find a payday in the form of Rock & Rule, an animated film featuring Deborah Harry and Lou Reed's voice work.

In it the world has been destroyed and "legendary super-rocker" Mok — whose record went "gold, platinum, and plutonium in one day" — tries to use a demonic code to rule what's left of the world.

With such a range of dystopian stories to mine it seems filmmakers could make post apocalyptic movies until the end of the world comes for real.

Cribs nab legendary axeman

Ex-Smiths guitarist Johnny Marr joins British indie act

CAM LINDSAY for Metro Canada

When a band is looking to add a new member, the search usually consists of an audition process or, on a less professional scale, just adding a loyal friend on rhythm guitar. Wakefield, England's The Cribs somehow managed to add one of the greatest living guitarists to bump the trio up to a quartet.

In early 2008, Johnny Marr, the former gui-tarist/co-songwriter of seminal '80s indie band The Smiths, joined The Cribs after serving a tour of duty with the band Modest Mouse.

Maybe it's become normal for him over the last two years but the way drummer Ross Jarman explains it, the addition was like any member really.

"Fundamentally it's still like the Cribs," he says with a laidback tinge to his Northern accent. "But it's exactly how you'd expect it – us with Johnny's distinctive playing in there. So we changed the dynamic but not radically."

Jarman fully admits that when he and his twin brothers Gary and Ryan first played with Marr they acknowledged it was indeed their hero standing before them. But it took no time for the four of them to become a solid unit.

"Maybe the first time we practiced, we thought, 'Aww f—, it's Johnny Marr, he's playing with us!" Jarman admits, "But five minutes after writing the first song it all went out the window."

More songs eventually came and in only three weeks the band recorded its fourth album, Ignore The Ignorant. While the presence of Marr distinctly tidies up the band's slushy, lo-fi sound (the title track has an undeniable Smiths tone), the groups' scrappy anthems and derisive nature still remain intact.

Jarman says that despite Marr's illustrious career. the guitarist wanted be one of the boys.

"I think Johnny just likes the real simplistic, DIY ethics of the band," he says. "He doesn't want to change "There are all of these cool, new parts coming out of Johnny. We have total trust in what he plays." Ross Jarman any of that, so we definitely don't feel like we have to step it up playing with him."

Embarking on the band's first North American tour as a four-piece, Jarman says the newest member is free to do as he likes on stage. "He listened to the old records, and there are parts that Ryan laid down that he can't play live, so Johnny's been weaving in and out of them," he says.

"We let Johnny come in and do what he thinks is right. There are all of these cool, new parts coming out of Johnny. We have total trust in what he plays.'

Barenaked Ladies carry on d Robertson and Tyler Stewart are in a good mood encouraging, giv-en that the last couple of years haven't Robertson's been easy: plane crash, the death of Robertson's mom, and, of course, the departure of Steven Page last February. Not the best way to celebrate the band's 20th anniversary.

"It was a huge transition and a scary one to undertake. says, 📷 Robertson "but it's been so galvanizing and so liberating for the four of us. How does a band compensate for losing a cofounder. frontman and songwriter? "There are four guys left the band who do a lot of things," adds Tyler Stewart. "The fact that we've been together for twenty years, we really know and support each other. The compensation is that we're way more into it than we've been in the last ten years. We want to continue the legacy of Barenaked Ladies.

The new album — the band's 11th - called All in Good Time (due March 30) is the first record after, as Tyler says, "an intense couple of years."

Robertson and Page wrote together for two decades, churning out a long string of hits, but that all came to an end last winter. Robertson is philosophical about that "Change good, especially in the creative process. You get in cerbeen nice for me to explore writing on my own. It was also a chance for Jim (Creeggan) and Kevin (Hearn) to come to the table with songs. We approached the new record as an adventure and it was a challenge that everyone rose to and everyone embraced "

The first single, You Run Away, started showing up on radio this week. And going against type, it's not goofy at all. Instead, it's a beautiful poignant song. "A lot of the lyrics on this record are very close to the bone," Robertson explains. "I allowed myself to go there this time.

Next month, they're off to Miami to perform at a Super Bowl event. Then Robertson will run with the Olympic torch in Vancouver before the band plays four shows during the games.

Much touring will follow, including a North American tour in the spring and summer and the U.K. in the fall.

"Yesterday, I saw our schedule for the next six months. It's 1997 all over again!," Ed says. "Hello, rock 'n' roll pace. I've missed you!"

Heart of My Own reflects love of literature

ROB MCMAHON for Metro Canada

Basia Bulat's new album builds from an academic interest in the written craft of Emily Dickenson and the Brönte sisters, but also reaches to the soaring vistas of the Yukon for inspiration.

"History is full of people who are critics as well as creators. I'm probably not very good at either, but am I trying to learn and get better," said Bulat. "I love poetry and pop songs that have the ability to say so many things in such a short space. (It amazes me when) a writer can use a few lines to open up worlds."

Written during a leave of absence from her Master's thesis in English, Heart of My Own reflects a love of literature that began when Bulat's mother gave her eight-year-old daughter a copy of Jane Eyre. Her favourite Emily Dickenson poems echo the rhythm of a church choir — a kind of written cadence also reflected in classic Motown, which draws on gospel singing.

Bulat's interest in craft also comes out through the careful thought she put into sequencing the album. The album takes on a dramatic arc built around two sides (side A ends with Sparrow) that communicate a dynamic range of sound through ebbs and flows of arrangements and energy.

"(I wanted each song) to signal what would happen next — to draw that out," she said. "(For example) the last line of the first song is, 'Let them know the burden of your blues.' Then song two is a fun song. I really like to be able to play that way with words, and hope that came across."

Bulat's songs — which veer from rollicking stompers like If Only You to the stripped-down coffeeshop folk of Sugar and Spice — are also inspired by her reaction to the Canadian north. On her first visit to the Yukon, she was equally struck by the silence of the landscape and the tight-knit community. Far from home, Bulat and her brother (who has played drums for her for more than a decade) felt right at home. "I had a limited experience in the Yukon — we were only there a week — but people opened their homes to us, and were so open and giving, it was amazing," she said.

"They treated us like

"They treated us like family, which is amazing when you are so far from your own family."

TV show doesn't shout 'I'm Spartacus!'

NED EHRBAR for Metro World News

NEW SERIES When the promotional trailer for the new series Spartacus: Blood and Sand was released during San Diego Comic Con, many viewers were surprised by the amount of, well, blood and naked flesh.

Along with plenty of slow-motion spurting arteries, there are some quick — and some not-so-quick — flashes of nearly ever inch of the cast, including Andy Witfield (as the titular gladiator) and Xena: Warrior Princess and Battlestar Galactica vet Lucy Lawless.

"(The network) wanted to do something that's groundbreaking boundary-pushing," explains series executive producer Rob Tapert, who put the show together along with fellow executive producer Sam Raimi (himself no stranger to buckets of blood) and writer Stephen S. DeKnight, who cut his teeth writing for Buffy the Vampire Slayer and Angel.

acknowledges Tapert that comparisons to Zack Snyder's groundbreaking swords-and-sandals 300 are unavoidable.

"We've used some of the same techniques," he says, adding, "We won't be the last imitator."

And while the name and the title character are familiar, Tapert insists this new venture is a vast departure from the 1960 Kirk Douglas classic. "We took very little from the original," he says. "The original Spartacus stands alone.'

As TV tends to do, the series narrows the scope of the story, focusing in on Spartacus' introduction to the world of gladiators. But Tapert insist the backstory is more than simply an excuse to get to the raunchier material.

"If you're going to have sex and vou're going to have violence, you better have the substance that supports that so it's not gratuitous," he says. "The action is stylized, but the drama is real."

Peter Mensah, who stars as gladiator trainer Doctore, thinks cable is the perfect place for a show like this, since being on network television would mean holding back.

"By pulling punches, which other networks are sometimes forced to do, you end up disassociating from the characters," he says. "This is going to give the audience something that's far more real. It really brings the story home to you because it's so in-yourface." It premieres on The Movie Network and Movie Central Jan. 25

Hosts of MTV's The Buried Life, premiering Monday night.

Four guys and a camera

IAN JOHNSTON

The Buried Life began not some much as a TV series idea, but a question between friends.

"We just wondered what do we want to do before we die? And we just set out to do it," says Duncan Penn, who, along with brother Jonnie and friends Ben Nemtin and Dave Lingwood, serve as hosts and wish-fulfillers on Buried Life.

"Having our own TV show was actually No. 53 on our list," says Penn.

Maybe it wasn't top priority, but the result is an MTV series best described as The Bucket List meets Punk'd. It's fun. It's delinquent, yet occasionally moving as well.

'What we never expected was how the question of what you want to do before you die would resonate with people," says

Dinner for 2 $1

with breakfast

Lingwood. "We had so many people help us, it seemed a natural that we'd try to help some of them."

The Buried Life follows the four Canadian college guys as they travel the countryside in a bus, fulfilling selfish dreams like attending a Playboy Mansion party, or asking Megan Fox out on a date.

But they also spend some of their time realizing the dreams of folks they meet on the road, like helping an underprivileged classroom get a new computer and hooking up a street artist with the son he hasn't seen in years. You think about that guy and his son. He'd been thinking about making that call for 17 years. And we helped make it happen," says Penn. Still, The Buried Life ain't all touchy-feely. The boys' antics do occasionally run afoul of the law such as when they attempt to tell a joke on late night television, or when they give a toast at a stranger's wedding.

"Some are easier than others to cross off. Some you struggle with. You just never know," says Penn.

The foursome has — to date — crossed about 70 different items off their wish list, though they're always The Buried Life premiers coming up with more. One longtime goal, howev-Monday on remains elusive. "Going into space," says Ling-ood. "But who wood. knows?'

Have you got the Avatar blues?

ly immersive spectacle Avatar may have been a little too real for some fans who say they have experienced depression and suicidal thoughts after seeing the film because they long to enjoy the beauty of the alien world Pandora.

On the fan forum site Avatar Forums, a topic thread entitled "Ways to cope with the depression of the dream of Pandora being intangible," has received more than 1,000 posts from people experiencing depression and fans trying to help them cope.

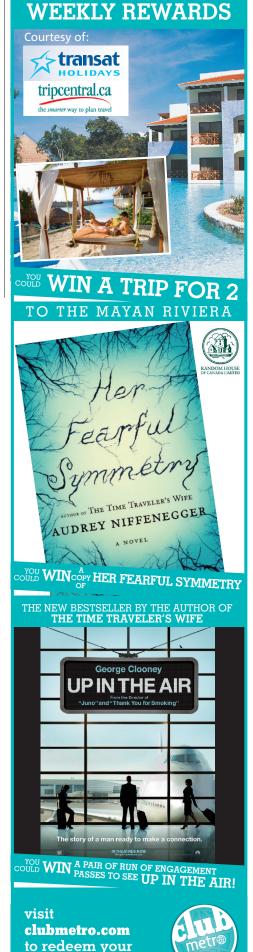

"I wasn't depressed myself. In fact the movie made me happy," forum adminis-trator Philippe Baghdassari-an said. "But I can understand why it made people depressed. The movie was so beautiful and it showed something we don't have here on Earth."

"Ever since I went to see Avatar I have been dederful world of Pandora and all the Na'vi made me want to be one of them. I can't stop thinking about all the things that happened in the film and all of the tears and shivers I got from it," said a user named Mike wrote on the fan website Naviblue. "I even contemplate suicide thinking that if I do it I will be rebirthed in a world similar to Pandora and the everything is the same as in Avatar." METRO WORLD NEWS/CNN

After watching Avatar, some people have become depressed.

Legally Blonde wins over Brits

OMG: Legally Blonde: The Musical has warmed the hearts of London's crusty theatre critics.

The stage show, based on the 2001 film starring Reese Witherspoon, tells the story of Elle Woods, a bubbly blond from Los Angeles who discovers her inner strength at Harvard Law School. The show earned a lukewarm reception on Broadway, where it ran for a year and a half before closing in October 2008.

Blonde opened Wednesday at London's Savoy Theatre after a month of previews that saw large, enthusiastic and female-dominated audiences embracing its brand of frivolous fun.

themselves, Despite British critics were largely won over, too.

"I tried, I really tried to hate this show, but resistance is futile," wrote Charles Spencer in Thursday's Daily Telegraph, praising the show as "light, fast, fun and frothy."

"The stage show has its tongue in its cheek throughout, it knows it is ridiculous and infantile, and celebrates the fact with knowing wit," he said.

The Independent's Paul Taylor declared the musical "ridiculously enjovable from start to finish," and a big improvement on the movie. He said the lyrics by Heather Hach were "unflaggingly funny" and the score by Laurence O'Keefe and Nell Benjamin full of brassiness, bite, joie de vivre, sheer cheek, and even the odd strain of sadness."

Benedict Times' Nightingale was another convert, won over by the show as well as the enthusiasm of the audience, who "cheered, whistled and made my cavils seem precious."

The Guardian's Michael Billington was skeptical dubbing the show "preposterous" — but still preferred the stage version to the movie.

"The plot is pap, the musical unmemorable, the dancing often hefty," said The Daily Mail's often-contrarian critic Quentin Letts. although even he acknowledged that some of the lyrics were "almost worthy of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Twiggy turns the big 6-0

Fashion icon reflects on past

BRUNO GHETTI Metro World News

One of the icons of the '60s, top English model Twiggy, turned 60 in September.

Famous for her very skinny figure, her big expressive eyes and her boyish looks, she has compiled some of her most famous pictures in a new book, Twiggy: a Life in Photographs. She is also the star of an exhibition at London's National Portrait Gallery until March 2010. Twiggy spoke to Metro Brazil about her career.

How do you look so good at 60?

I'm happy with my life, I love what I do. I'm blessed with a good health, that's the top of the list, isn't it? I eat very healthily.

What are your memories of the '60s?

When you're living something, you don't stop everyday and think: "Wow, this is amazing." It was an exciting time, but I didn't realize until I looked back how amazing that period was. I don't think any of us knew or realized it would be so important. Historically it was the first time that the working class people had chances. I was really the first working class model

Was there any rivalry between you and other great '60s models, like Veruschka and Jean Shrimpton?

They were already established, I was a little kid. But the models were sweet to me, they looked after me. I had pictures of Jean Shrimpton on my bedroom wall. I loved her, she was fantastic.

You appear on the cover of David Bowie's Pin Ups.
What is the story of that image?

Iconic fashion model Twiggy in the '60s, left, and now at 60 years old, right.

That photograph was actually shot for the cover of English Vogue. He was very popular then. We were both kind of androgynous. They thought we would make a good cover. They shot the photo, but then the art director refused to put a man on the cover! So David Bowie said: 'Don't worry, it's such a great picture, I'll use it as an album cover.' We met to do the photograph. He is very talented,

Paul McCartney is also a big friend of yours.

Yes, he is one of my best friends. Linda [McCartney] was a dear, dear friend of mine. I've know him since I was 17. We are very close, I was around when his kids were born. My daughter Carly is the print designer for Stella McCartney. It's a big family affair really.

Who is the "new Twiggy"?

Kate Moss, definitely. She is a phenomenon. She is one of the best models ever. Look at the photographs: She is getting better and better. I know her, she is a lovely, natural girl. But she's also a brilliant model. And I think she's becoming a very clever business woman as well.
